The SilverLungs™ Generator is a highly cost-effective home-based colloidal/ionic silver generator that produces extremely small particles of 99.99% "pure" elemental silver as well as trillions of (0.288 nm) silver ions. Those who are already familiar with the countless benefits of silver know that buying and consuming silver solutions regularly can be quite costly. As well, having the ability to create your own "on site" can be vital in times of need. The SilverLungs™ Generator is designed around custom internal circuitry and mechanics to insure that only the highest quality silver solutions are produced every time. Easy to follow step-by-step instructions are provided for creating the perfect colloidal/ionic silver solution.

Features:
- Nano sized silver particles and ions produced
- Multiple (PPM) power settings (10 & 20 PPM)
- Automatic shutoff (set-it-and-forget-it)
- Polarity reversal
- Magnetic stirring
Ultrasonic "Nano-Nebulizer" - This virtually silent medical-grade ultrasonic nebulizer delivers the silver micro-vapor into the "alveoli" of the lungs for unmatched bio-delivery. The ultra-fine vapor produced from this unit consists of water particles ranging from 1.5 to 5.7 microns in size! The easy-to-use kit includes child and adult masks as well as nasal and mouth pieces. This is a fantastic unit for nasal and respiratory administration as well as for providing the fastest delivery of silver into the blood stream.

Why silver? - Multiple laboratory tests over the past 100 years have shown colloidal/ionic silver to kill disease-causing pathogens, viruses and bacteria typically within minutes of contact. Silver has been shown to be a powerful anti-fungal, anti-germicidal, anti-bacterial and anti-viral substance. Silver is used readily in hospital burn wards to prevent scar tissue. Ionic silver has been shown to regenerate human cells and greatly relieves burns when applied topically.
Why "breathe" silver? - Although traditional oral ingestion is the most practical method of administration, breathing the ionic/colloidal solution is the fastest and most direct method of delivery into the blood. Breathing the "atomized" solution has the distinct advantage of delivering silver directly to the inner-lining of the lungs when targeting respiratory-related illness. This is an area of the body that oral consumption does not easily target. Chest related infections such as bronchitis and influenza are targeted directly through respiratory "inhalation" administration.

How does silver work inside the body? - In lay terms, it is commonly believed that a disease-causing pathogen or a virus - in the presence of nano-sized silver particles or ions - will become suffocated through a chemical process called "Catalytic Oxidation". Other research shows that ionic silver can rob electrons from proteins and/or enzymes that a virus needs to survive and the same result is achieved indirectly by disabling these associated components required for the survival of a virus.
Glass Applicators and Storage Kit - A complete line of applicators for nasal, respiratory, ear, eye and topical administration. Also included in this kit is a large amber colored glass storage reservoir to protect the silver solution from ultraviolet rays (i.e. sunlight) that can degrade its integrity and effectiveness. Both amber and cobalt blue make for good translucent colors to protect your silver solutions against ultraviolet light.

High-powered "Red" Laser Pointer - A high-powered laser pointer is an indispensable tool for checking the quality of your silver solutions. The presence of large and undesirable silver particles will reveal themselves easily with a high-power laser pointer. This is a very useful tool when creating colloidal/ionic silver and visually analyzing your silver solutions!
TDS Water Test Meter - This meter is vital to test the initial quality of your distilled water and also measures the amount of dissolved silver during the electrolysis process. The water meter comes pre-calibrated saving time with initial setup.

Why make your own colloidal/ionic silver? - If you plan to supplement your diet regularly with silver and want the peace of mind that comes with knowing the source and quality of what you are consuming; and you also want to avoid the repeated costs of ordering and shipping a silver solution on-line, then producing your own colloidal/ionic silver is the answer. If you and your family are supplementing with silver regularly, you will soon realize the convenience of producing your own silver solutions and the cost savings of a one-time investment in a high quality and reliable home generator.
