The recent earthquake in Haiti has left the country devastated and in need of much help. MedExSupply, a Jewish medical supplies company, in conjunction with Dynarex Corp., a manufacturer of medical supplies, have reached out to help in the relief effort. Both companies are located in Rockland County.

With the help of the mayor of Spring Valley, Noramie Jasmin, supplies of over $100,000 were donated and shipped to Haiti to help the wounded.

Mr. Benzion Weider, personal assistant to the mayor said, “This has been a joint effort by many generous people and companies to help the people of Haiti through this trying time.”

Aromak Shipping also played a big role in this relief effort. The company has been shipping medical supplies to Haiti and surrounding countries for more than 15 years. They donated the shipping containers and covered shipping costs of over $6,000.

Mr. Sruly Rosenberg, a marketing officer at MedExSupply stated, “As a company, we wanted the people of Haiti to have access to the resources they needed most to care for the survivors of this tragedy.”

The supplies are scheduled to arrive within the next week few days to a hospital near the devastated area.

MedExSupply will continue to accept donations so that they continue to sent help to Haiti.
